EDITOR OF SOVIET FOREIGN TRADE JOURNAL REPLACED

Two changes have taken place in the editorial staff of Vneshnyaya Torgovlya (Foreign Trade) over the past few months.

V. Chistov, listed fourth on the editorial staff in the December 1950 issue, is not listed on the Soviet foreign trade journal's staff in the No 1, January 1951 issue, and a new name, N. Inozemtsev, the last of six listed, appears. Inozemtsev had two articles published in Vneshnyaya Torgovlya in 1950, one in the September issue entitled "Expansion of American Imperialism in Southeast Asia," and an informative article on the world rubber market in the December issue. Both articles quoted extensively from foreign sources.

A previous addition to the staff was A. Finogenov, whose name first appeared, in fifth place, in the August 1950 issue, replacing V. Kolpakov. The magazine's editorial staff as of January 1951 is: N. Cheklin (Editor), I. Ikonnikov (Assistant Editor), N. Orlov, A. Finogenov, A. Keylin, and N. Inozemtsev.

No reason is given for the changes. Before Kolpakov's name was dropped from the editorial staff, an article, "German Reparations and Illegal Removals by the Western Powers," written jointly by the two dropped members, Kolpakov and Chistov, was published in the July 1950 issue. It compared Soviet and Western Power attitudes on German reparations.

The circulation of the No 1, 1951 issue of Vneshnyaya Torgovlya has considerably increased over that of 1950 issues. While the maximum circulation of any 1950 issue was 1,900 copies, there were 3,000 copies printed of the No 1, 1951 issue.
